We are seeking LGBTQ participants to gift their stories – anonymously or by name – to an oral history archive at UNC Asheville. Help us to capture a richer, fuller, more inclusive history of our region. We are also seeking to build a team to gather these stories. We will train and equip you. Come to one of our workshops. Allies are welcome!

Together, we aim to document a richer, fuller, and more inclusive history of our region by recording the stories and memories of individuals who have spent much of their lives in the South. We hope, too, that these interviews will contribute to a large-scale needs assessment and asset mapping for LGBTQ communities in our area.

The LGBTQ Oral History project is a collaboration of the Blue Ridge Pride Center and UNC Asheville, with generous support from the YMCA of Western NC.
